

The Organization

The South Dakota Solid Waste Management Association (SDSWMA) is a non-profit non-governmental umbrella organization for recycling (private, public and volunteer), collection (solid waste and liquid waste hauling and similar) and disposal (landfill, rubble sites and related areas) interests. As the solid waste industry evolves, the members are tending to be in various parts of each of these once separate areas.

The Mission

The mission of the South Dakota Solid Waste Management Association (SDSWMA) is to promote environmentally sound waste management practices in reuse, recycling, reduction, trash hauling, landfilling and waste-to-energy throughout South Dakota and our bordering states.

The Methods

- ◆ provide newsletters identifying industry trends, solutions, opportunities and current activities as they relate to the solid waste industry;
- ◆ Provide a united voice on legislative issues for the industry;
- ◆ provide solid waste, recycling and reuse management and operational training, workshops and seminars (including certification training);
- ◆ support practical and basic research in solid waste, liquid waste and recycling;
- ◆ assist all levels of policy makers and operations with simplified, implementable technical information.

The Benefits of Membership

Members will have the opportunity to network with professionals involved in all aspects of solid waste collection, disposal or recycling and participate in guiding the direction of decisions affecting the proper implementation of environmentally sound solutions in these areas as they pertain specifically to our upper midwest region. Your inclusion will be accomplished through:

- ◆ a semi-annual newsletter with advertising opportunities;
- ◆ reduced fees for MOLO, regional seminars and workshops;
- ◆ reduced fees to attend the annual meeting, held at different location each year, across the state of South Dakota;
- ◆ legislative updates affecting the areas of solid waste, liquid waste, recycling and related topics;
- ◆ periodic special reports affecting legislation which will directly impact our members;
- ◆ Member access to many safety training briefs (online) and numerous studies and grants projects completed to benefit our industry in South Dakota;
- ◆ Safety and operations videos and fact sheets in our member library;
- ◆ free access to member database and evolving changes.

Join online NOW!

- ◆ Visit our website: www.sdswwa.org
- ◆ Click on the Membership Tab and select Join/Renew and fill in your contact information to populate our membership database. This will create an account for access to the members only section as well as registration for workshops and conferences.

The Intangible Cost

With continual government downsizing and regulatory change, it could easily be argued that the cost associated with potential fines, construction mistakes, poor equipment choices, regulatory misunderstandings, etc. is significantly higher than the cost of dues to be a member. The truth, however, is that our primary function, for our members, is to provide dependable, consistent information and guidance with which they can make good management and operational decisions for their own organization. Our purpose is to clearly and concisely provide the training and information as tools to be used.
